

Abstract: The government has decided to open a public debate on the main aspects of the higher education system, such as its structure, access of students, institutional governance, funding, autonomy and regulation, research), aiming at passing new legislation which will eliminate some of the more negative aspects of legislation presently in force. This paper presents the document that was prepared to promote the debate.