

This paper starts by examining the major trends of the Portuguese higher education system. Then some of the major objectives that should guide the public funding system are discussed. Therefore the first part of the paper contains a brief presentation of the recent evolution of the higher education system, followed by an analysis of the major questions related to the funding system.